DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-14 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 1-8, and 11-14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Matsuo et. al US Patent No. 6762806.

Matsuo teaches a display device comprising: a display unit having a plate (fig. 2 element 4), a chassis (fig. 2 elements 5 and 67) surrounding peripheral edges of the plate; and a bezel (fig. 1, 2 element 6) formed on the chassis and holding peripheral edges of the plate, and a cover (figs 1-3 element 51) enclosing the back-side surface of the display unit the bezel being provided with an extension portion (fig. 1 and 3 around element 66) that extends from a side of the display unit and outwardly projects from beyond an end of the chassis at a level of an upper surface of the cover. The chassis (element 67 and element 5) are integral therefore both elements are considered a chassis interpreting the chassis this way meets the limitation of surrounding the peripheral edges of the plate and supporting the peripheral edges of the plate. The limitation of support is interpreted broadly as the chassis (element 5 and 67) supports an edge of the plate (at element 67) and indirectly supports the plate through supporting another element (see fig. 2 element 2).

Regarding claims 5, claim 5 is identical to claim 1 with the exception of the preamble, which recites "an electronic apparatus" instead of a display device. A display device is considered an electronic apparatus.

Regarding claims 2 and 6, the reference teaches the bezel extension portion is disposed in a vicinity of a base portion of display unit (see fig. 1 element 66).

Regarding claim 3 and 7, the reference teaches the display unit arranged in a rectangular formation, and the bezel extension portion is extends from a lateral side of the display unit (see fig. 1 element 66).

Regarding claim 4 and 8, the reference teaches an inside space surrounded by end surfaces of the display unit (fig. 1 element 4) and the cover (fig. 1 element 1), and formed beneath a back-side of the surface of the bezel extension portion, and an electronic part (fig. 1 element 1) is disposed within the space.

Regarding claim 11, a the reference teaches display unit: having a plate (fig. 1 element 4), a chassis (fig. 2 elements 5 and 67) surrounding peripheral edges of the plate and a bezel (fig. 1, 2 element 6) formed on the chassis holding the peripheral edges of the plate, the bezel being provided with an extension portion (fig. 1 and 3 around element 66) which is extended from a side of the display unit and outwardly projects from an end of the chassis.

Regarding claims 12, the reference teaches the bezel extension portion is disposed in a vicinity of a base portion of display unit (see fig. 1 element 66).

Regarding claim 13, the reference teaches the display unit arranged in a rectangular formation, and the bezel extension portion is extends from a lateral side of the display unit (see fig. 1 element 66).

Regarding claim 14, the reference teaches an inside space surrounded by end surfaces of the display unit (fig. 1 element 4) and the cover (fig. 1 element 1), and formed beneath a back-side of the surface of the bezel extension portion, and an electronic part (fig. 1 element 1) is disposed within the space.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 9 and 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Matsuo as applied to claims 1 or 5, and in view of Fukuyama et. al US Patent 6741299. Matsuo teaches all the limitations of claims 9 and 10 except a display device that has height equivalent to the total height of the display unit and cover only. Fukuyama teaches a display unit where the total height is equal to the total height of the display unit and cover only (see fig. 2 element 14) to reduce thickness (see column 1 lines 5-11). Therefore, at the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have a display wherein the only contributing elements to the total height are the display unit and cover to reduce overall thickness.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
